

Exploring the Science of Nutrition

Did you know that there are scientists that study food and how it works in your body? They're called dietitians!

Below, draw 5 foods that you would want to study.
If you have space, print the first letter of each food beside each drawing.

Did you know?
Nutrition is the study of food and how it works in your body.

