

Memory Game - Traditional Indigenous Foods

Create a list of traditional Indigenous foods from your community or research some local to your area. Write them in the list area below. This game can be played with two or more players, follow the directions below and have fun!

1. Start with blank recipe cards or cut pieces of paper into playing card size (ask an adult for help using scissors).

3. Draw two pictures of each food from the list that look the same or write the names of foods twice on the recipe cards or papers.

2. Choose a theme
– use the list of traditional Indigenous foods you created.
4. Turn drawings face down in no particular order. One at a time, each player turns a card over and tries to find its match.
5. If it is a match, the player keeps both cards. If it is not a match, the player turns puts both cards back in the same place.

6. The game finishes when all the pairs are matched up and the player with the most matches wins!
